IN AND ABOUT THE LOCAL INDUSTRIES

THE SHIPBUILDER SPEAKS.

By Michael Sophrin.

You tell me that they are fighting mad

Across the ocean wide;
You tell me that our boys have had
A chance by France's side.
You say that men and food must go
To help the Allies through,
And then you ask me do I know—
Well, I do.

You tell me in most clear tone
That I must build in speed;
You tell me it is I alone
Can hurry in the need;
You ask me shall I do my best
As now the nations call;
And shall I work with main and zeal—
You bet, I shall!

THE NEW AMERICAN GAME.

The race between riveters in American shipyards, barely two weeks old, is setting a fast and furious pace. Already it seems that records of old days that riveters pointed to as unbeatable were mere child's play. The man who is good enough to travel in the fast company of today must strike a new pitch of efficiency and endurance.

The project carries an appeal to the sporting instinct of every true American. The riveting machine can be just as effective an instrument as a baseball bat in developing a new American sport. It could be made to carry just as great an appeal. We believe that the public, once it realizes the importance of shipbuilding and senses the romance of this vast enterprise, can find keen interest in a sport that is both dramatic and patriotic.

The regular meeting of Panama-Pacific Lodge of the Steel Workers' Union will be held in Lodge Hall Saturday, May 4th, at 2 p. m.

D. Garle of the Enterprise Foundry is on an extended vacation.

Harold E. May has taken a position with the Schaw-Batcher Company as office assistant to Mr. George Williams.

The general offices of the Enterprise Foundry are now in the Southern Pacific Building, 65 Market street.

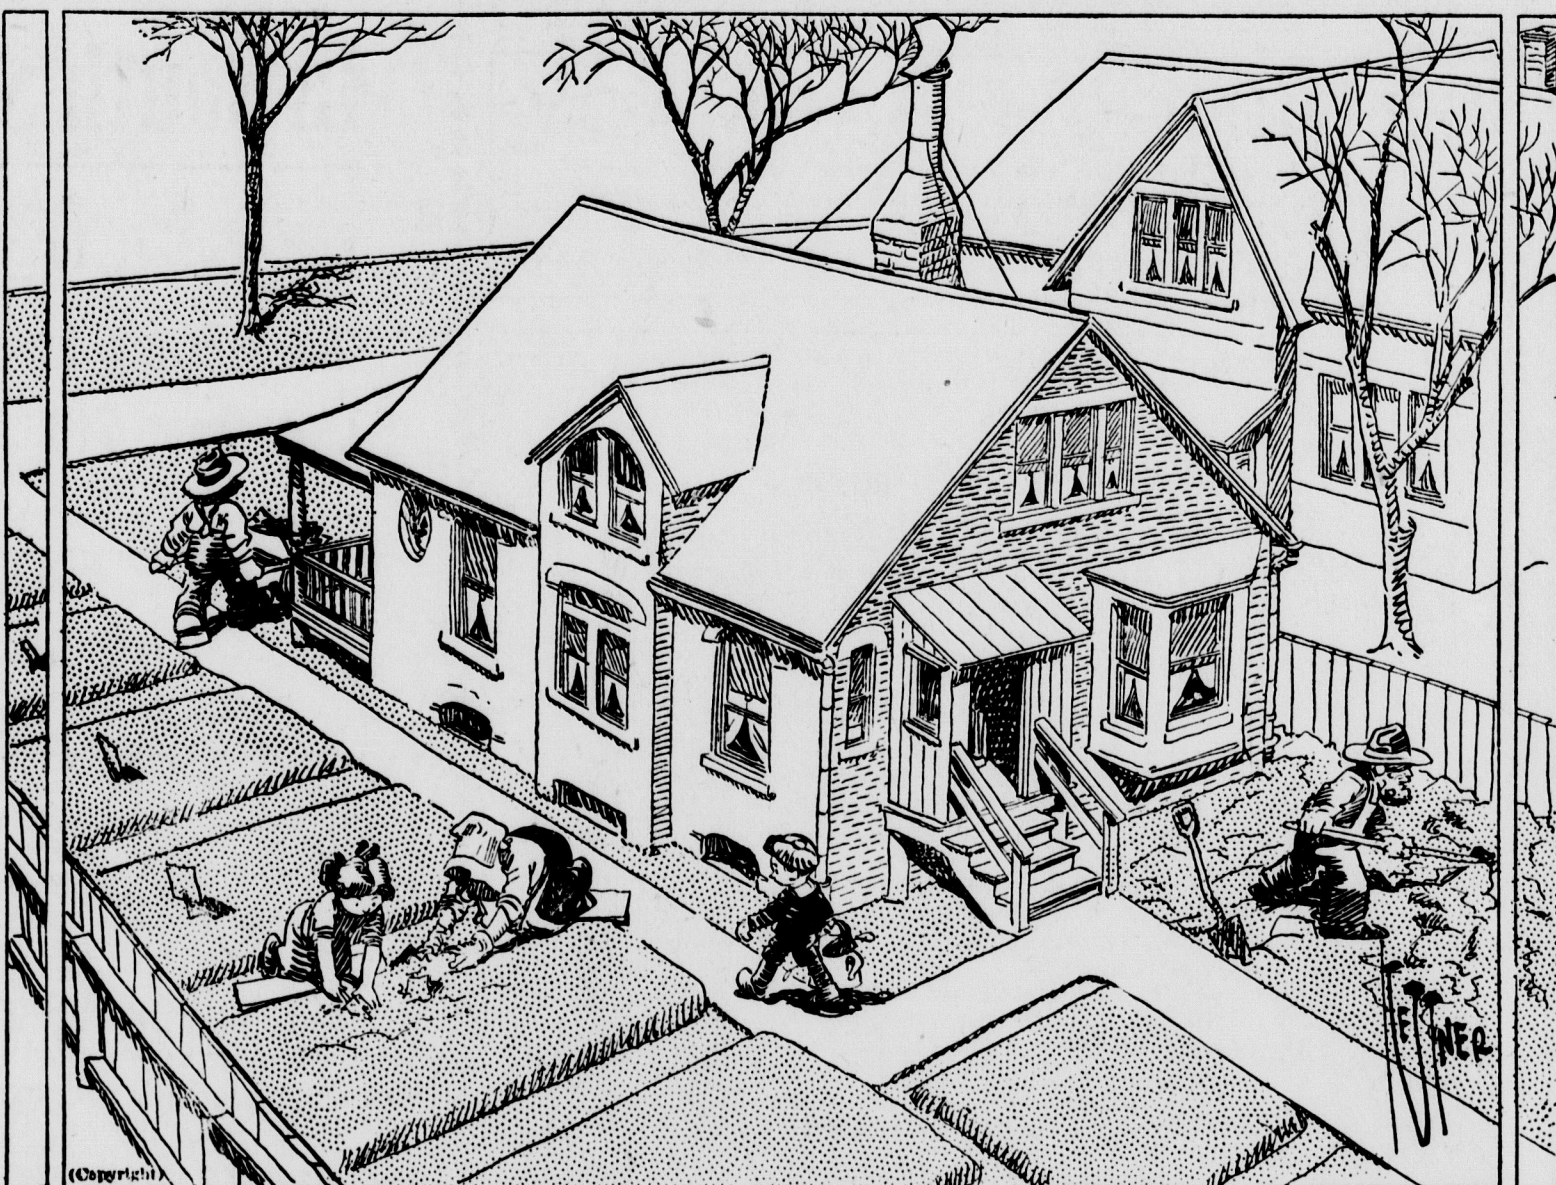

On Thursday Mr. Louis F. Swift paid his first visit to the plant of the Western Meat Company since the completion of the new club house. He was very favorably impressed with what has been accomplished, as it is in line with the policy which the Swift interests intend pursuing in Chicago and elsewhere as regards the living and working conditions among their employees. It is anticipated that the club will have its grand opening within two weeks.

Mr. Jack James of the mechanical and construction department of the Western Meat Company has just returned from a stay of several weeks at the company's creamery at Patterson, Cal., where he has been superintending the work of improving and enlarging the plant at that place. Mr. J. H. New, the chief engineer, after completing some important improvements to the company's branch house at Fresno, is now at Patterson completing the work there.

Pat Bowler has entered the service of Uncle Sam, but unlike most new soldiers he has been subjected to a

AMER. BARIUM CO. ENCOURAGES THRIFT

CONTRIBUTES TEN DOLLARS TO PURCHASE OF LIBERTY BOND
BY ANY EMPLOYEE.

Practical patriotism and a desire to develop thrift in its employees has caused the American Barium Company to sell $50 liberty bonds to its wage earners at a cost of $40, the difference being contributed by the company, which has issued a bulletin to that effect. In addition to making the contribution of $10 to each bond purchaser, the company has worked out a plan whereby the bonds can be purchased at the rate of $2 per week, this amount to be deducted from the salaries of the men. After twenty weeks, when the employee has paid $40 a $50 bond will be delivered to him by the company without the subscriber having to make further payments.

WELLAR A. STEAD IS CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE

Wellar A. Stead, proprietor of the South City Undertaking Parlors, is out for the office of Coroner against Brooks. Stead announced his candidacy early this week and many of his friends are prophesying his election.

MERRITT SUCCEEDS CHAS. L. MOORMAN

G. B. Merritt has succeeded Charles L. Moorman as purchasing agent of the Schaw-Batcher Company ship yards. Merritt was formerly assistant purchasing agent, and is fully familiar with the work of the office. Moorman will continue his work with the Western Pipe and Steel Company in San Francisco, his duties bringing him to South San Francisco but once a week.

Due to this change in the affairs of the ship yard, Moorman has resigned as President of the Industrial Club. Dr. F. S. Dolley, formerly Vice-President, is now the presiding officer of the organization, Andrew Hynding having been elected to the Vice-Presidency.

FRANKLIN K. SWART SCORES "FLUNKIES"

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ANNOUNCES
CANDIDACY FOR RE-ELECTION ON RECORD OF ACCOMPLISHMENT.

Denouncing what he terms as "flunky" politicians, and averring that selfish politics and political bosses are as much out of place here now as are Kings and Kaisers in Europe, Franklin K. Swart, District Attorney, announces that he will again submit his name to the people of the county for approval at the primaries on August 27th.

Swart points to the improvement in conditions throughout the county since his election eight years ago, and on this record of service submits his name for re-election.

FOODS TASTE BETTER COOKED —TOBACCO TASTES BETTER TOASTED

Since the day of the caveman, who liked his meat raw, civilization has learned a lot about the scientific treatment of the things we eat.

Naturally none of us would now prefer to have our meat raw, our potatoes as they come from the ground, our coffee unroasted.

And naturally follows the great discovery recently made by The American Tobacco Co.—that tobacco tastes better TOASTED!

This wonderful new idea—simple like all great inventions—was first used in producing the famous LUCKY STRIKE Cigarette—made of toasted Burley tobacco.

Burley has a mellow flavor, entirely different from the tobacco usually used for cigarettes. It is a pipe tobacco and LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes taste like a pipe.

South San Francisco Industries Growing By Leaps and Bounds

"South San Francisco is growing, and San Francisco is growing south." This is the slogan adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of South San Francisco, the manufacturing city of the peninsula, as it is styled in the literature issued by the progressive business men of the community just over the county line.

South San Francisco can well afford to boast. Within a very few years the community has developed from comparative unimportance to one of the most prosperous manufacturing centers of the West. It today bids fair to take its place among the prosperous manufacturing cities of the United States, and with its natural resources and the progressive spirit of its citizens, gives promise of holding its own with the majority of the older communities of the nation where manufacturing is uppermost.

Failures a Rarity.

It is a well established fact that retail business failures in South San Francisco are virtually unknown. The community is unusually prosperous, and the wage scale standard far above the average.

From a few comparatively meager manufacturing plants, the industries represented in the peninsula manufacturing center have developed within the last few years until there are now thirty-one great industrial corporations in operation, and furnishing employment to thousands of skilled laborers. They are:

W. P. Fuller & Co. Paint and Lead Works.

South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company.

Steiger Terra Cotta and Pottery Company works.

South San Francisco Belt Railway Company.

W. P. Fuller & Co. varnish works.

Western Meat Company packing house.

American Marble and Mosaic Company.

Schaw - Batcher Company pipe works.

Pacific Car and Equipment Company.

The Standard Oil Company.

Federal Wireless Telegraph Company.

Standard Corrugated Pipe Company.

Western Sand and Rock Company.

South San Francisco Water Works.

South San Francisco Wool Pullery.

Enterprise Foundry Company.

Pacific Coast Steel Company.

Prest-O-Lite Company.

Union Ice Company.

Union Stock Yards.

Coast Foundry Company.

South San Francisco Steam Laundry.

Chapman Smelting Company.

California Curb Bar Company.

Carson Chemical Company.

American Barium Company.

Edwards Wire Company.

Growers' Rice Milling Company.

Moran Packing Company.

Schaw-Batcher Shipbuilding Company.

California Iron Yards.

Every day thousands of travelers on the Southern Pacific trains that pass through South San Francisco comment in flattering terms on the ever-increasing sky line of smoke stacks that mark the certain and rapid growth of the city.

A few days ago the Chamber of Commerce of South San Francisco entertained a banker from London. He stopped, because as he expressed it, he desired to investigate further "a city with such broad shoulders and singing industries" as he had glimpsed from a passing train window.

He explained that large financial interests in England had sent him to make a technical study of San Francisco and its environs. After a thorough investigation of South San Francisco and its industries he declared that no finer foundation ever existed in any manufacturing community than that which exists in South San Francisco today, and predicted the brightest prospects for the city's future.

Many Industries Represented.

Nearly all the big industries are represented at South San Francisco, and among her plants may be numbered some of the finest of the country.

Shipbuilding is represented in the great plant of the Schaw-Batcher Shipbuilding Corporation. Here will be found 2560 men on the weekly pay roll, laboring to complete contracts for eighteen 8800-ton steel vessels for the United States Shipping Board, at a price totaling $32,000,000.

In order to accommodate this great plant, a special tidal canal was dredged through the marsh land and bay shallows and the yard now is numbered among the most up-to-date on the Pacific Coast, if not in the entire United States.

Grew Like Magic.

This great shipbuilding plant was only started last August, and it is expected by its officials that within a few months its output will be more than double, and that it will be employing upwards of 6000 men.

An inspector of the United States Shipping Board recently visited the Schaw-Batcher yards and reported on the facilities of the plant and the favorable progress that is being made with new construction. This report is said to have been in a large measure responsible for the awarding of contracts by the Federal board for ten additional ships, bringing the total up to eighteen that are now in course of construction.

Big Steel Concern.

To mention another big concern, the Pacific Coast Steel Company's plant at South San Francisco is regarded as one of the most important of the community.

Recently the corporation's directors recommended the expenditure of $350,000 in the construction of a 28-inch rolling mill, an additional 40-ton furnace and the conversion of a 25-ton furnace for use as a 40-ton melting device.

Future plans of the directors include the construction of more open hearths, a large blooming mill and other improvements that will bring the output of the plant up to 20,000 tons a month.

Approximately eighty acres of ground will be covered by the completed plant, and it will be one of the largest jobs of its kind ever attempted west of Pittsburg. The construction work for the buildings and the greater portion of the machinery is being handled by the factories now located in South San Francisco.

Still another huge plant in course of construction is that of Moran & Co., packers. The plant, to be erected at a cost of $700,000, is entirely of reinforced concrete and is classed as one of the finest pieces of construction work of its kind in the United States.

The company will be engaged exclusively in killing hogs and preparing them for market, and the daily output has been placed at 1000 hogs. Since the commencement of construction work the company has added $50,000 in improvements over and above the original contract.

Banking in South San Francisco is now an important business. Today the Bank of South San Francisco is engaged in erecting a modern, reinforced concrete structure that will be second to none in San Mateo county, and which will house a financial institution which has grown in importance proportionately with the rapid growth of the city itself.

A City With a Future.

Smaller business concerns are prospering in direct ratio to the prosperity enjoyed by the large manufacturing corporations.

Real estate in South San Francisco is booming as it has never boomed before, and will continue to boom, for it is a solid basis upon which the boom has been launched.

South San Francisco is a city with a future, destined, its leading men believe, to become a second Dayton in commercial and industrial importance.—San Francisco Bulletin.

More than 70,000 acres of land in this country has been planted with castor-bean plants to produce oil for aircraft.

ESCHELBACH PLANS FOR SHOWING OF FILMS WHICH HAVE CREATED FURORE WHEREVER SHOWN.

The Royal Theater is rapidly stepping into the class of Metropolitan picture houses. Feature films rarely shown in communities of this size have been booked and the local playhouse is making every attempt to provide its patrons with the best available pictures in filmdom. "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," which will be shown here shortly has created a furore wherever shown and Eschelbach has arranged for its screening here shortly. Patronage is the best method of showing appreciation to the Royal Theater for its efforts in securing the fine offerings which are now being shown and others which will be filmed in the near future.

THERE'S A RANCH IN ARIZONA.

(To "Helen Marie" of the Rancho Coronado, somewhere in Arizona.)

By Mrs. James E. Douglas.
(Copyright, 1918, by K. S. Douglas.)

There's a ranch in Arizona
That I often long to see,
With a little 'dobe ranch-house
Close beside an old oak tree;
Round about it grows the cactus
Waxen, sweet, and fair to see;
But the sweetest flower that blooms
There

Is the one they named "Marie."

Refrain.

Arizona! Arizona!
Oh, your name sounds good to me!
For you hold a little ranch-house
Close beside an old oak tree;
And it shelters one within it
Whom I often long to see;
Sweetest of the desert blossoms
Is the one they call "Marie."

Often have we ranged the mesa
Or the cactus-dotted plain;
Through the purple dusk returning
Often have we drawn the rein;
Hand in hand we watched together
Those far twinkling lights to see
From the little 'dobe ranch-house
Close beside the old oak tree.

Far apart our paths are lying—
Mine has led across the sea,
If my trail has here an ending
Will you miss me, dear Marie?
When the house beside the oak tree
Through the purple dusk you see,
When you watch the ranch lights
gleaming,
Will you think of me, Marie?

Alice Brady in "Betsy Ross" to Be Royal Theatre Bill Tuesday Evening

The next World-Picture Brady-Made to be shown at the Royal Theater will be "Betsy Ross," a romantic and patriotic drama, which will be the attraction on Tuesday evening, May 7th. Miss Alice Brady is the star of this drama and is seen in a mighty effective and interesting role. She appears as Betsy, the maker of the first American flag, who with flashing needle fashioned the star-spangled banner at the request of General Washington. Appearing with Miss Brady is an exceptional cast of film favorites. The story, of course, centers about the flag-making incident and this incident is fully portrayed. All of the historical surroundings of the film are accurate—for instance, Betsy's home has been correctly reproduced both outside and in. While the historical phase of this drama is of dominating interest, the romance which runs through it will please and charm everyone. "Betsy Ross" is a very superior offering. Be sure to see it.

Margins Wiped Out

The United States has always heretofore been a land of plenty—in fact a land of surpluses. Up to two or three years ago we have always had a fair balance to run on at the end of each year, and had no need to practice real economy. There was plenty of every commodity and a reasonable plenty of money with which to buy it.

Now the only commodity of which the United States has plenty is money. Of the things which money will buy she finds herself alarmingly short. Wheat, meat, wool, coal—the four great requisites of life, she is called on to conserve and to use as sparingly as possible. The serious phase of the matter is that in all these lines the erstwhile margins of plenty have been completely wiped out and in their place is a positive deficit.

It was estimated during the fuel-saving period that the country was actually short fifty million tons of coal; that we lacked that much of having enough fuel to carry on normal activities. Practically the same condition prevails in the other lines.

What is the answer?

CONSERVATION!

Waste MUST be absolutely eliminated.

Production must be speeded up by every means in our power.

And wherever a substitute for either of these four articles can by any means be made to serve the purpose, it is the patriotic duty of every true American man and woman to make use of that substitute.

The time for discussing the war has passed. The problems growing out of the war are pressing for attention, and should be met as live Americans have always met the stern problems of life—with a smiling courage and a firm determination to solve them and solve them correctly.

The war must be won, so let every American say from the bottom of his heart, "We can and we will."

Liberty bond subscriptions tell us
Kaiser Bill don't stand no chance;
We'll give till we wear behind us
Bigger patches on our pants.

Political discussions are taking second place these days. What is the use of going so far afield for a topic, when even such a simple thing as a loaf of bread furnishes an opportunity for argument as to what it contains?

Secretary Baker has doubtless smuggled through a trunkful of new ideas on the military situation. He will declare them later, and we will gladly take care of the duties as our part of the transaction.

Five hundred gallons of oil had to be applied on the hides of Ringling Brothers' twenty-seven elephants to get them ready for the summer season. Why not Hooverize on elephants?

It's rather puzzling to know whether it would be best to go by Mexico on our way to Europe, or wait and come by there on our return. That trouble spot is due for a visit before long.

Germany having fixed the amount of the Allies' indemnity at one hundred billion marks, Foch and his armies are proceeding to inflict as many "marks" as possible.

Plant seeds in your garden, plant your dollars in liberty bonds. You will have to take care of the garden, but Uncle Sam will take care of the bonds for you.

The Hindenburg line is changing with disconcerting rapidity, but the bread lines in Germany keep their place from day to day.

"Nobody but the farmer knows how oats, peas, beans and barley grow," but the nation is getting a good idea of how they taste.

In calling Schwab to the shipbuilding job the Government is calling wide knowledge and trained experience. Our ships will sail.

Our boys in France are standing behind the lines waiting for their "crowded hours of glorious life."

The President wanted an expression of tank warfare, but a less vivid one would have answered his purpose better.

The mold in which heroes were cast evidently still exists. General Haig was turned out from it.

A noted actress is billed to appear in "A Pair of Silk Stockings." Gosh! That ought to draw a house.

Up to date no enterprising Paris reporter has interviewed Von Hindenburg to learn how he likes the city.

Are you putting that conserved hour to good use for your country? Get busy.

Von Hin the Hun seems to have struck a stone wall.

Uncle Carranza must be getting mighty impatient waiting for Germany to keep her promise and deliver Texas to him.

The wheat crop will soon be coming up, but Congress predicts that it will not come up to $2.50 a bushel.

EXTRA PRIZES IN LIBERTY BOND CAMPAIGN

contestant who has reported the largest number of votes for that day.

CHANCE FOR HESITATING ONES.

Ho, all ye hesitating sisters with that timeworn tale of woe, "I would like to enter but do not know whether I can secure votes," this is the time to pay heed to that urge and earn for yourselves a goodly return for a little effort.

You may enter now, ask your friends for their subscription votes and be given a liberal reward for the little work you will do between Monday of this week and Tuesday of next. No votes cast previous to Monday will count in the special period competition, but votes secured during this or any other period may, of course, be balloted for the capital prizes. Everything to gain, nothing to lose. What will you do? Sit in the shadow of discontent and watch your more ambitious sisters basking in the sunshine of success, or will you justify the confidence your friends had in you when your name was placed in nomination and proudly take your place among the leaders in the friendly competition.

MRS. GONETTI SETS PACE.

Notwithstanding the many shifts in the list of candidates as shown by this week's vote exhibit, Mrs. Elinore Gonetti still holds the honor place in the list with 14,450 votes to her credit. And San Bruno's representative, Mrs. S. Mackey is her closest contender, having jumped to second position by polling 8800 votes for this count. South San Francisco candidates must be on the alert if they are to keep the honors here at home.

Miss Mamie Rodgers, who is employed during the day and making her campaign at night is an easy third and sets a worth-while example to the complaining ones "who haven't the time." Miss Helen Schmidt is up among the first five, closely followed by Miss Florence Robertson.

ENDING OF FIRST PERIOD.

The first period of the campaign ends Tuesday evening, May 14th, at 9 p. m. This is a red letter day in the big battle of ballots as up to that time there are 50,000 extra votes given for every club of $10 in subscriptions, whether new or old, and it will also mark the end of the special competition for the added prize of $10 in thrift stamps and the daily prizes as outlined at the opening of this head of this column. It behooves the candidates to put forth every effort during this period as the awards are worthy of it, and the competition may be won or lost at this time. During the second period of the campaign, which opens Wednesday, May 15th, the bonus vote offer will be decreased to 40,000 extra votes for each club of $12 in subscriptions. The Enterprise pledges itself that no change will be made in this vote schedule at any time during the contest. It will remain exactly as published at the opening announcement. Candidates already entered report to the campaign manager that the securing of votes is getting easier each day, as the readers of the Enterprise are becoming more familiar with the campaign. The initial efforts of the early entrants is making the way easier not only for themselves but for those who showed timidity about entering at the announcement of the offer.

Following is the standing of the candidates up to Thursday evening, May 2d, at 5 o'clock:

Candidates.	Last Vote.	Votes Cast.	Total Vote.
Mrs. Elinore Gonetti	1,550	12,900	14,450

No Hunger Strike Here

Hunger strikers give this restaurant a wide berth. They know that if they should get sight or smell of our savory meals they would simply be forced to give in and eat.

We are well prepared to feed the hungry.

Our meals are the best to be purchased, and cooked and served in a manner that promotes appetite and gustatory enjoyment.

Every customer cordially welcomed and courteously served, whether the order be for a sandwich or the most elaborate meal.

severe course of training before instead of after entering the service. His many friends have so vied with one another in providing him with many and varied entertainments that his powers of physical endurance should now be second to none. The round of pleasure culminated Wednesday night in two parties in his honor (one "stag" and the other not). What they would call in baseball a "double-header," as it were.

The day before he left the boys at the plant presented him with a kit and wrist watch. We hate to lose him, and will envy the men of the company to which he may be assigned, as life can never be dull and without interest with Pat around.

EXPERIENCE SOCIAL ENJOYABLE EVENT

FIFTY-ONE GUESTS ASSEMBLE AT
W. H. COFFINBERRY HOME ON TUESDAY EVENING.

A minstrel show, screamingly funny in lines, and the costuming of the participants was only one of the several events provided for entertainment last Tuesday evening when fifty-one members of the Ladies' Aid Society gathered as guests at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. H. Coffinberry on Miller avenue, at an "experience social."

"The Summer Girl Minstrels" was the appellation selected by the participants, with Mrs. Abbie Scott acting as interlocutor. Mrs. Whitten represented "Miss Votes for Women," Miss Wilkinson "Miss Swat the Fly," Mrs. Mrs. W. H. Coffinberry "Miss Maizie," Mrs. J. W. Coleberd "Miss Maizie," Mrs. J. W. Coleberd "Miss Miss Alice Stearns "Miss Honey Lou," with Mrs. J. Ditton and Mrs. C. Coffinberry as "end men," in their respective characters of "Miss Fluffy" and "Miss Board Walk." A feature of this part of the entertainment was the potpourri of musical nonsense presented by a quartet, consisting of Mrs. Ditton, Mrs. C. Coffinberry, Miss Hein and Miss Stearns.

Following the entertainment each guest related her experience in earning a dollar for the church fund, and many amusing methods were disclosed as the one after another the dollars jingled merrily into the contribution basket, until fifty-five had been deposited.

Dainty refreshments were served the guests, who were Mesdames Holbrook, Walker, Duncan, Dotson, Martin, Woodman, Mountz, E. Coffinberry, Sullivan, Watters, Whitten, Sonison, Fontaine, Wolf, Hynding, Scott, Coleberd, Dr. Doak, Whitehead, Boyer, Dolley, Elder, Snyder, Bates, C. Coffinberry, Stearns, Eikenkotter, Haaker, Savage, Constable, Dann, James, Still, Hine, Smith, Kay, Holly, Stahl, Standley, Ditton, Young, Tose, Peck, Mulcahy, Hemstead, Welty and the Misses Echman, Wilkinson, Hine and Stearns.

POTATO DRIVE ON AT HIGH SCHOOL

CLASS IN DOMESTIC SCIENCE WILL DEMONSTRATE VALUE OF TUBERS AS FOOD.

The first ten days in May have been set aside by the food administration for a potato drive in California. To bring this more forcibly to the attention of the community is the purpose of the High School exhibit and demonstration of the use of potatoes.

Printed recipes will be distributed and some potato dishes will be demonstrated by the class in domestic science.

Show your patriotism by attending and learning more about this valuable food, which can be substituted for wheat flour to a great extent.

Remember, you yourself must not consume more than one and one-half pounds of wheat flour a week. Potatoes, which are plentiful, will help to conserve the wheat needed "over there."

PATRIOTIC LEAGUE WILL SERVE SUPPER TUESDAY

A supper will be served by the Girls' Patriotic League to new members in the Library on Tuesday evening next. A large attendance of the members is expected.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. Quilici and family express deepest thanks for the expressions of condolence and floral contributions by friends in their recent bereavement upon the passing away of wife and mother.

IS CROSSING LINDEN AVENUE AND IS KNOCKED TO PAVEMENT

The little nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barberiss was struck by a Ford automobile driven by James J. Jones, a letter carrier at the Post-office here on Thursday afternoon.

As the little one started to cross the street from Carmody's store on Linden avenue she failed to see the approaching car and before Jones could bring the machine to a full stop the front wheel had struck her and knocked her heavily to the pavement. When picked up she was bleeding profusely from the mouth and Marshal Conrad, who feared she might be injured internally, rushed her to the office of Dr. Doak, who reports that the child is not injured seriously.
